Kennedy Says West Firm On Berlin

Nikita Removes Deadline for Treaty With E. Germany

Says He Prefers Slow Negotiations To Quick Warfare

BONN, Germany (AP) — Premier Khrushchev removed the end-of-the-year deadline for a treaty with East Germany in his talks with Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henry Spaak, diplomatic sources reported today.

"Khrushchev reportedly told Spaak that the Soviet Union prefers slow negotiations to a quick war," these sources said.

Spaak reported to the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization last Thursday on his five-hour talks with Khrushchev in Moscow on the previous Tuesday.

Khrushchev was said to have told Spaak he never had committed himself to signing a peace treaty with East Germany before the end of this year.

German Officials Surprised

German officials expressed surprise at this. On several occasions Khrushchev has declared that he will sign a treaty with East Germany before the end of the year, turning over control of access to West Berlin to the East German Communist regime, unless the West agrees to a German pact on its terms.

"As far as we know he has said this a number of times," officials said.

Diplomats said they understood the Spaak report to mean that Khrushchev now proposes to delay signing an East German peace treaty if negotiations are under way by the end of the year.

Khrushchev also was reported to have told Spaak he was ready to discuss with the Western powers other subjects beside Berlin and Germany.

Described As Conciliatory

One West German official said Khrushchev's line in talks with Spaak, a former secretary-general of NATO, was "most conciliatory." West German officials were not optimistic, however, despite Spaak's report.

"We heard the message," said one, "but we don't believe it. He has taken on the face of a mild and compromising person for this occasion."

Diplomats said despite Khrushchev's relatively mild attitude, he remained firm against including the status of East Berlin in any East-West negotiations. He took the line that East Berlin is the capital of East Germany and cannot be discussed.

Scooter Fall Is Fatal to Mother of Two

Mrs. Thelma Byrnes Of Berlin Center Victim of Mishap

A 22-year-old Berlin Center mother was killed and two teen-age Alliance girls injured in accidents on area highways over the weekend.

Mrs. Thelma June Byrnes, 22, of RD 1, Berlin Center, was killed when she was thrown from a motor scooter, driven by her husband, William C., 22, on Mock Rd., just north of Berlin Center, at 12:15 p.m. Saturday.

The State Highway Patrol said Mrs. Byrnes was riding on the rear seat of the motor scooter when the back wheel fell off. She was thrown to the road where her head struck the pavement.

She was pronounced dead at the scene by a North Jackson physician. Dr. David Belinky, Mahoning County coroner, said death was caused by a fractured skull. He ruled the death a traffic fatality. The 45th in Mahoning County this year, compared to 33 at the same time last year.

Mr. Byrnes suffered an arm injury in the accident and was released from Youngstown South Side Hospital after treatment.

Mrs. Byrnes was born Oct. 28, 1938, in Milton Twp., a daughter of Eugene and Pauline Baringer Fenton, and had lived in the area all her life.

She had been employed as a secretary by the Jackson-Milton Board of Education until a year ago. She was a 4-H Club adviser for the Pattern Pals of North Jackson.

Besides her husband, to whom she was married July 27, 1957, Mrs. Byrnes leaves two daughters, Laura Ann and Peggy Sue, at home; her parents of Diamond; two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Wedding and Mrs. Edward Holub, both of Newton Falls; and three brothers, Robert, Stanley and Delmer.

Services will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Williams Funeral Home in Canfield. Rev. Roland Pfile will officiate, with burial in Eckis Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening from 7 to 9.

Frightened Refugees Flee Katanga

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—More than 350 refugees from neighboring Katanga Province have fled into the safety of Northern Rhodesia since Sunday morning as the threat of more bloodshed mounted in the break-away Congolese province.

Northern Rhodesia police said nearly 100 carloads of Belgian men, women and children crossed at frontier points.

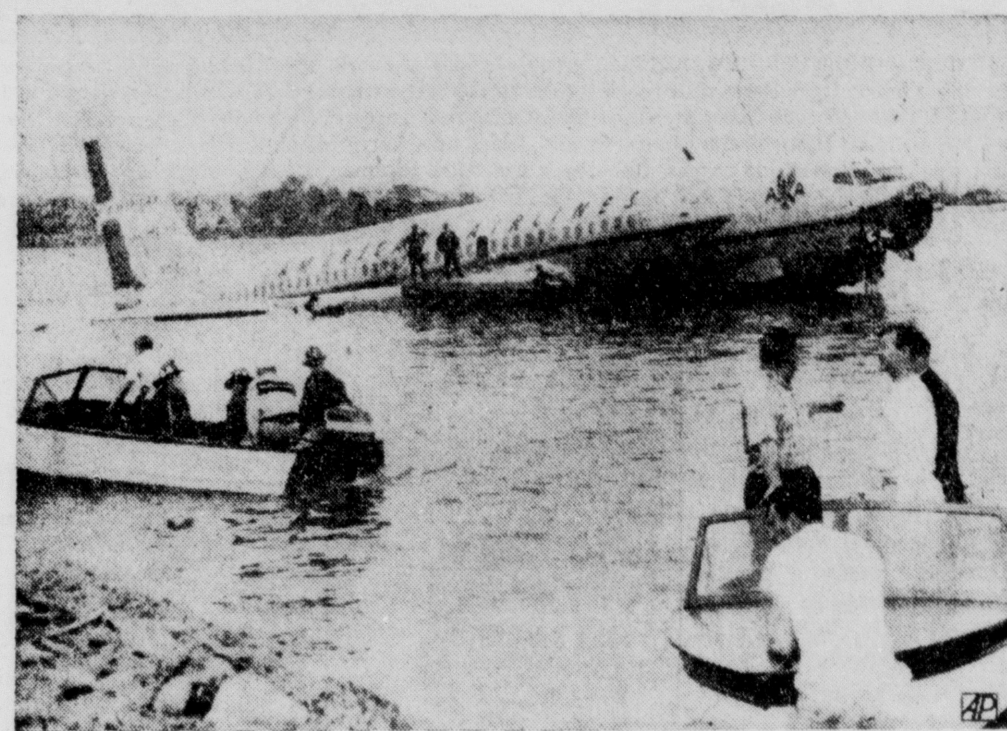

Most men appeared to be escorting their families to safety, then heading back to Katanga.

Belgian settler Maurice Gaillard said the flight was mainly due to the rising terror of restive Baluba tribesmen. Gaillard himself left his family in Rhodesia, then headed back for Elisabethville, Katanga capital.

Reports of rising war preparations among tribesmen in the Katanga bush began gaining intensity. In a number of villages around Elisabethville, able-bodied men have taken to the bush. According to persistent reports they are being armed by President Moise Tshombe for a showdown with U.N. forces.

West German President Seeks To Allay Fears of U.S.-Soviet Deal

W.E. Stratton Fatally Hurt In Barn Fall

BELOIT—William Edward Stratton, 58, of RD 1, Beloit, died at 11:30 a.m. Saturday at Alliance City Hospital of injuries suffered when he fell through a barn floor an hour earlier at his farm. Death was due to a head injury.

Born July 9, 1903, in Berlin Township, he was the son of Louis and Rebecca Stratton.

A life resident of this area, he was a farmer and also served as a Goshen Township Trustee for 18 years.

He was a member of the North Benton United Presbyterian Church, Damascus Ruritan Club, Ohio Guernsey Association, Pomona Grange, the Ohio Association of Township Trustees and Clerks and Smith Grange, of which he was a past master.

He was an agent for the Farmers and Traders Insurance Co.

Survivors include his wife, Alice Warren Stratton, whom he married in 1925; three daughters, Mrs. Marilyn Herron of Salem, Mrs. Marion Greiner and Mrs. Sylvia Townsend of Beloit; a brother, LaRue Stratton of Berlin Center and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at the North Benton Presbyterian Church. Rev. Russell Williams will officiate, with burial in Hartzell Cemetery at North Benton.

Friends may call at the Vogt Funeral Home in Sebring this evening.

Nation Is Urged To Keep Faith In Allies

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners were told Sunday night that Gen. Lucius D. Clay had come as their defender with the same determination he showed in breaking the 1948-49 Communist blockade of the city.

The assurances came from West German President Heinrich Lübke to allay growing fear in West Germany that the United States is planning a possible deal with the Soviet Union.

Lübke chose the dedication of a new West Berlin opera house to appeal to Germans to have faith in their Western partners.

"We can really have confidence in the firmness of our Allies. Their promises have to be taken seriously in every respect. Gen. Clay has not come here to surrender Berlin, but to defend it as he did in 1948," Lübke said.

As President Kennedy's personal envoy to West Berlin, Clay told a private meeting of publishers and reporters last week that U.S. officials are informing West Germany it must face up to the existence of Communist East Germany and let the East Germans have some authority over access to Berlin.

West Berliners generally interpreted Clay's off-the-record remarks as removing all hope for the reunification of Germany in the foreseeable future.

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin commented bitterly: "We have lost some hopes but also some illusions."

By illusions the mayor meant

Bob Kennedy Says U.S. Will Use A-Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says "there is no question" that President Kennedy is prepared to use nuclear weapons to maintain the Allies' position in Berlin.

Appearing on an NBC television interview program Sunday — "Meet the Press"—the attorney general said: "The President and the free world are willing to use nuclear weapons to preserve our position in Berlin, to insure that the people of Berlin remain free and that we have access to that city."

The attorney general said he "would hope" that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has come to this realization within the last few weeks.

Robert Kennedy said that the matter of possible use of nuclear weapons probably takes more of his brother's time and thoughts than anything else, "because when we are talking about using nuclear weapons we are talking about almost the destruction of the human race—at least a very large proportion of it."

"But on this question of Berlin

Plane Crash At Air Show Kills 3 Persons

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—An Air Force cargo plane carrying six daredevil Army parachutists lumbered clear of the runway Sunday, faltered, slewed off to one side and fell to a fiery crash before a shocked air show crowd of some 100,000 persons.

Three servicemen died, 12 others aboard were injured—six seriously.

Onlookers gasped as firemen and rescuers rushed to the broken C123 to drag out the injured from the gaping holes in the fuselage. Three of four helicopters whirled out to the Hanover County airport. One hovered over the burning wreckage, the wash from its rotors beating back flames from two men in the cockpit.

The wife of a Civil Air Patrol officer, watching the CAP "Friendship Day" show on television from her mother's hospital room in Wilmington, dashed down to alert the emergency room and then began contacting blood donors.

By helicopter and ambulance, rescuers brought in the casualties. The dead were Sgt. Robert T.

Tells U.N. Status Won't Be Altered By Russian Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Kennedy declared today that no Soviet treaty with East Germany can disturb Western rights in Berlin. He told the United Nations it is ridiculous to charge that the West threatens war merely to block a paper treaty.

Kennedy, in a wide-ranging address which emphasized "firmness and reason" in international dealings, challenged the Soviet Union to a peace race instead of an arms race.

The chief executive said the United States will present shortly a program for step-by-step disarmament based on the principle of the "general and complete disarmament" which has been the propaganda plank of the Soviets in approaching disarmament talks.

Cites Need For Control

But Kennedy said a disarmament agreement must be accompanied by effective international control vested in the United Nations.

As for the international organization, Kennedy attacked the Soviet proposal that the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's strong leadership be replaced by a three-sided executive.

In this time above all others, Kennedy said, the U.N. charter must be strengthened. To do this, he added, the international body must select "an outstanding civil servant" to carry forward the responsibilities of the secretary-general.

Of the Soviet plan, he said: "To install a triumvirate or any panel or rotating authority, in the United Nations administrative offices would replace order with anarchy, action with paralysis, and confidence with gross confusion."

Touches On World Troubles

Kennedy touched on world trouble spots and solutions to the causes of cold war conflict in his first appearance before the General Assembly.

In his prepared text he was most specific about halting the spread of atomic weapons. He said the new U.S. disarmament program, which may be set forth in detail within 24 hours, would include a proposal for all nations to sign a nuclear test ban treaty.

"Test ban negotiations need not and should not await general disarmament talks," Kennedy said to counter Soviet insistence that discussion of a nuclear treaty be wrapped into over-all disarmament negotiations.

Kennedy advocated a special U.N. power to keep the peace throughout the world. He recommended that all member nations earmark special peace-keeping units in their armed forces to be on call to prevent aggression.

Kennedy pointed directly to threats of peace in Laos and in Germany.

For the first time he personally emphasized that in connection

Numbers Case Plea Expected

Quartet May Ask Charges Be Dropped

LISBON—Four Pittsburgh men accused of printing numbers slips and aiding and abetting a crime are expected to ask the court today to quash the indictments against them, County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said today.

The four are Martin Sufrin, Isadore Sufrin, Joseph Sufrin and Michael Schedlmeier, officers of the Lisbon Sales Book Co. They were indicted Thursday by the recalled grand jury.

Attorney General Mark McElroy and his assistants, Jack Nybell and Paul Blackburn, are in Lisbon awaiting the arraignment of the quartet.

The hearings are being held before Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp who is taking the cases in numerical order. Thursday's indictments appear at the end of the list.

The Pittsburgh men were indicted as the result of a raid led by McElroy on the Lisbon firm Sept. 6.

In other cases, Russell D. Lightner of West Point, who pleaded guilty to the burglary of the Chamberlain Tool Building and asked for immediate sentencing, was given 1 to 15 years in Ohio State Penitentiary.

Also pleading guilty was Eugene Simmons Jr. of Aliquippa, Pa., who was indicted for assault. He requested probation.

Pleading not guilty were Glenn

Richie, Salem, embezzlement;

Dale Carnes of Wellsville, burglary of the John Kuta Radio Shop;

John E. Wallace, burglary of the Julius Goetz Co. in Wellsville.

David Bailey, 18, Klondyke, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

James T. Johnson, Charles R. Ludwig and Donald E. Young, all of East Palestine, making false affidavits to obtain auto titles.

Donald E. Roberts of Salineville and Steve Millward of East Liverpool, non-support of minor children.

Ralph Byers of East Liverpool requested that his sentence come from the juvenile court where he had pleaded guilty to molesting a minor boy.

20 Are Injured As Train Derails

BAF, Ark. (AP) — A freight train derailed and slammed into a passenger train parked on a siding Sunday night, injuring at least 20 persons.

There were no deaths reported, but attendants at a Jonesboro, Ark., hospital where the injured were taken said at least five of them were critical.

Thurman Adam, a porter, said a hotbox caused a wheel to fly off one of the freight cars as the freight rumbled by the motionless passenger train.

Adam said in the chain reaction that followed about 20 of the freight's 88 cars left the tracks. Some piled atop the overturned passenger train. The engine of the passenger train was knocked into a nearby cotton field.

Frisco officials said the passenger train had been switched to a siding to allow the freight to pass. They said the freight had slowed to about 15 miles an hour.

The passenger train's single coach was carrying about 35 persons, most of them Frisco employees on their way to work at a railroad yard construction site. The train was en route from Springfield, Mo., to Memphis, Tenn.

UAW Orders End To GM Strikes

DETROIT (AP)—Peace was expected to return today to the world's largest manufacturing empire—General Motors Corp.

The United Auto Workers Union ordered two weeks of crippling strikes ended Sunday night and instructed all workers to return to their jobs today—or as soon as GM is ready for them.

While decreeing peace with GM, with the completion of a new three-year contract, the UAW authorized open warfare against Ford Motor Co. if it doesn't meet or beat the new GM terms.

The UAW's International Executive Board authorized both the strike-ending and strike-threatening moves in a 5½-hour meeting. The board has over-all power within the union.

The UAW had let negotiations slide at both Ford and Chrysler Corp., while a new pattern-setting pact was hammered out at GM. UAW President Walter P. Reuther already has said "Ford's will be the next door I knock on."

The date of any strike was left to the UAW's bargaining team there. Ken Bannon, UAW Ford "Things must get moving as of today."

The GM package includes: 1. A national economic agreement covering wages and fringe benefits; 2. a national noneconomic pact establishing a uniform rest period and the like, and 3. at-the-plant work rules.

It was local strikes over the latter that knocked out GM for almost two weeks.

3 Injured As Airliner Drops Into Harbor

BOSTON (AP) — A four-engine Astrojet 707 carrying 71 persons skidded off a runway Sunday and dropped into shallow water in the harbor.

No one aboard the American Airlines plane was killed. Small boats rescued those aboard within six minutes, an airline official said. Two passengers and a stewardess were treated at hospitals for minor injuries and released.

Airline officials said seat belts helped avert more serious injuries.

One man died of a heart attack rescuing passengers in a small boat.

The big plane slid into the water a few feet from the spot where an Eastern Air Lines Electra crashed into the harbor on take off almost a year ago with a loss of 62 lives.

The 707 — American Airline's Flight 44 from San Francisco and Chicago — was making an instrument landing in the murk and overshot the 10,000-foot runway, an airline spokesman said.

Stewardess Connie Forbes said some of the passengers were shaken up but there was no panic. The $5-million plane, its No. 1 and 2 engines torn off and its nose damaged, stopped in five or six feet of water. Four stewardesses led the passengers out on the wings.

Taken to the hospitals were Charles Ivsac, 38, Kenosha, Wis.; Lillian Rocheleau, 51, Westboro, Mass., and a stewardess, Sheila Homan of Lowell, Mass., and Burlingame, Calif.

Most of the rescued were brought to the Orient Heights Yacht Club. It was during one such boat trip that Jack Luti, about 50, of Beachmont, suffered his fatal heart attack.

Susan Shefflin, 18, of Highland Park, Ill., a student returning to school in Boston, said Luti collapsed in his boat as it approached the yacht club.

Fastening Objects to Plaster, Masonry Is Annoying Task

One of the most annoying jobs of the home handyman is that of fastening objects to masonry or plaster. Very often a person who is adept at wood-working or general do-it-yourself activity will come a cropper when he has to make an attachment to a concrete or plaster wall.

Sometimes, the difficulty is caused by lack of familiarity with the many types of fasteners on the market rather than by lack of skill. There are literally dozens of types of fasteners available but most of them fit into one of the categories we will discuss here.

FOR CONCRETE, an excellent fastener is a masonry shield or a masonry anchor. Similar in appearance, these are hollow receptacles which are inserted into holes in concrete. The holes are drilled into the concrete, either with a power drill with a carbide-tipped bit or with a star drill, when a screw or special bolt is inserted into the shield or anchor, the receptacle expands, firmly gripping itself inside the concrete. I making the hole in the concrete, it is important that it be slightly smaller—one-sixteenth of an inch—than the shield or anchor. If you have done the job right, the shield or anchor will fit very snugly.

THERE IS A PLASTIC anchor which operates on the same principle as the metal anchor, but which usually is intended for lighter installations. Masonry nails also can be used. These are hammered into the concrete and sometimes require plenty of sheer power. The nails are inclined to bend under the hammering unless they first are inserted into the object being fastened, such as a piece of 2 by 4 studding.

For masonry, there also is something called an anchor nail, which does away with the job of making a hole in the concrete. The nail is attached to a little square of perforated metal. The square is cemented to the wall with a special adhesive. The nail on the metal square sticks out horizontally. Furring strips or studding are then hammered on to a series of these nails.

IN PLASTER, ordinary nails or screws usually will not hold very well, although they very sometimes can be used when very light objects are being attached to the wall. A picture nail will hold well. But it is driven into the wall at an angle and thus, while practical for a picture, is not ideal for an installation which must rest flush against the wall.

Most plaster walls have openings in back of them and call for the use of a toggle bolt. This bolt has a wing-like attachment on it. As the bolt is driven into the wall, the wings open up the moment the bolt reaches the inner side of the wall. The bolt thus is held firmly in place.

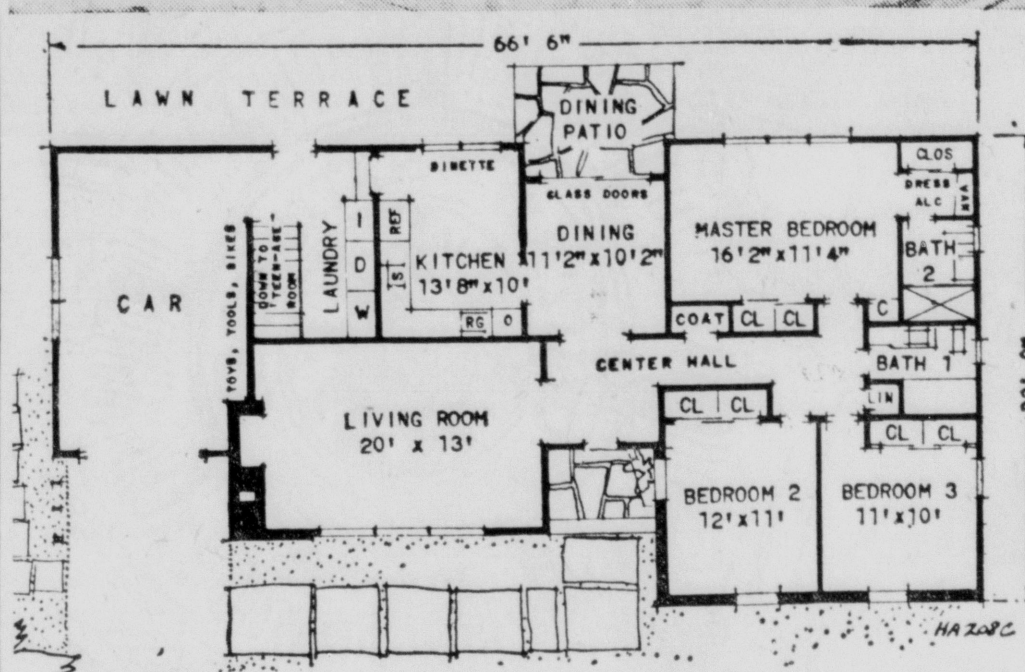

ALSO PRACTICAL or plaster walls are small fiber and plastic plugs into which screws are inserted. Still another way to get results is to make a hole in the plaster and fill it with wood or putty or plastic wood. When the filler is dry and thoroughly hard, it serves as a base for an ordinary wood screw. And when something extra heavy must be hung on a plaster wall, it often is necessary to use long screws that go through the wall into the studding.

In hanging a kitchen cabinet, it usually is best to attach heavy strips of wood to the wall, then attach the cabinet to the wood. It's easier to drive screws through the back of the cabinet into the wooden strips than through the back of the cabinet, the plaster and the studding at the same time. This also allows the passage of air between the wall and the cabinet, desirable in a room where there is excessive humidity.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I have had a table saw for several years and have done a lot of cutting with it, but have never made grooves. I understand a dado head can be attached to the arbor of the table saw for this purpose. At least, that is what is advertised. Yet a friend tells me that a jointer is the proper tool for making grooves. What is your advice?

ANSWER: A jointer is one of a number of power tools that can be used for making accurate grooves in wood. The table saw, used with a dado head, may not be the ideal tool for what is called finished work, but it very definitely will produce satisfactory results when handled properly. A dado head actually is a series of blades—two outside saws, usually one-eighth of an inch thick, and inside chippers of various thicknesses.

In assembling these cutters on the saw arbor, the chippers are placed inside the saws to make whatever thickness is desired. If you wished to make a groove half an inch in width, you would combine the two outside saws, totaling one-quarter of an inch, with chippers totaling one-quarter of an inch. The chippers should never be used without the outside saws.

Successful Painters Pay Attention to Fundamentals

In their own way, manufacturers use as much artistry in the creation of a paint brush as violin makers do in the construction of that classic instrument.

Fortunately, one need not be a Jascha Heifetz to wield a paint brush skillfully. Good results can be obtained by giving careful attention to certain fundamentals.

We asked the American Brush Manufacturers Association to tell us some of the so-called "tricks of the trade"—the little things that the professional painters do to get first-class results. The first bit of advice concerned the start of a paint job: apply the paint in spots first before spreading it out with the brush. After applying a sizable dab to the surface, use long, smooth strokes to level. Once the paint is distributed over an area, finish up with short, choppy, zig-zag strokes to remove tell-tale marks.

Always remember to brush toward a previously painted area. While the temptation may be to stroke away from the fresh paint, because it makes the job seem quicker, a better effect is obtained by working into the paint rather than away from it. Watch a professional painter and see how he does this every time.

Amateurs have a habit of dipping the brush too deeply. A good way to remember the right dip level—about halfway up the brush—is to put on a dipstick mark which is clearly visible. Proper cornering is another test of the painting pro. The temptation here is to use the side of the brush to reach narrow areas. Use a narrower brush instead to prevent "fingering." That's a term for a brush whose bristles are weakened at the sides through such misuse.

Don't use a wide wall brush to stroke the surface of a pipe or other narrow curved surface, such as the coils of a radiator. Use a one-inch to two-inch brush instead. One way to tell if the brush you're using is too wide is to see whether it "fishtails." That's when a brush parts in the middle, producing "fishtails" at either corner.

That narrow brush also will come in handy when the window sash has its face-lifting turn. Here is one case where the brush should be well dipped. With a heavy paint application, there's less chance of smearing the window glass.

Storm-Screen Doors Ideal for All-Weather Porch Enclosure

Enclosing a porch can be the most rewarding and least expensive home remodeling project for families who need more living space.

Enthusiastic testimony of this comes from all six members of a family in Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y., who recently added a playroom, dining room, entertainment center, and overflow guest room by building an enclosed porch on the concrete roof of their attached garage.

Has Many Uses

The porch is actually more than a porch, say its owners. It's a screened-in patio in summer and a cozy sunroom the rest of the year. Its uses are almost unlimited.

Key to low cost as well as versatility of the project was the use of 12 combination storm- and screen doors of ponderosa pine for the three outside walls. The doors, nailed in place, actually become walls of windows. The light glass and screen inserts, quickly interchangeable, make the porch breezy and cool in summer, and sunny but weatherproof in colder months. A portable electric heater makes the glazed-in room usable on even the coldest days.

partly do-it-yourself. A contractor was needed to erect a roof supported by 4x4 posts, and to install a plywood floor and ceiling.

Low Labor Costs

The home owner, not a skilled carpenter, also engaged the contractor to erect the combination doors. A semi-skilled handyman, however, could have handled this part of the job easily. It required merely fitting the 36-inch wide doors between the 4x4 supporting posts and covering the joints with molding.

The home owner did all painting inside and out. He also put down a cork floor and installed ceiling tiles.

A unique finishing touch that adds beauty to the interior of the new room is wainscoting that runs along the three outside walls. The wainscoting is constructed of 2-foot-wide panel doors of ponderosa pine turned on their sides and placed end to end. The finished effect is of rich, custom-made paneling.

Families who might want to materials from building material add a similar room to their own homes can obtain most of the dealers. The combination doors of ponderosa pine, for example, as well as the pine panel doors used as wainscoting, are stock items available in many styles and sizes.

The Croton-on-Hudson project was financed by a low-interest FHA-insured modernization loan. The home owner says that a recent reappraisal of his house by real estate agents shows that the new addition has added more than double its cost to the resale value of the house.

Red China's Foot In the Door

The General Assembly of the United Nations is going to debate the question of admitting Red China. After 10 turn-downs, the subject finally is going to be discussed in the open.

It is a curious circumstance that after so many years of discussion behind closed doors, the main point of controversy still is not being referred to, except behind the hand.

It is whether the United States can support indefinitely the figment of its own diplomatic imagination that the only legitimate China which exists in the world is Nationalist China on Formosa and that this is the same China given one of the five permanent seats on the U.N. Security Council.

It is not the same China. This figment of U.S. diplomatic imagination never was robust, and now it is sickly—as sickly as that other figment of diplomatic imagination which claimed East Germany and West Germany would unite, as soon as the Western Allies and the Soviet Union could agree on a plan for a plebiscite.

IF THE U.N. General Assembly reached a decision to recognize the existence of the People's Republic of China by giving it membership status, that would settle nothing. It would be only the beginning of a tremendous argument over which China—the Communists on the mainland or the Nationalists on Formosa—should hold the Security Council seat bestowed on China in the charter of the United Nations.

The United States has tried to avert that argument.

The other permanent members of the Security Council are the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Great Britain. The nonpermanent members change from session to session. Control of the Security Council is the key to U.N. usefulness.

If the key came into the hands of a Communist majority, the United States would be unable to justify continued support of the United Nations as an agency of peace by means of cooperative security.

The presence of Communist China in the United Nations and eventually as a contender for China's place in the Security Council would signal the collapse of the entire U.N. ideal as it was brought into being at Dumbarton Oaks in 1944 and certified at San Francisco in 1945.

It would mark the humiliation of the United States, which has withheld recognition of a government that went to war with the United Nations in Korea and killed, wounded and imprisoned thousands of American soldiers.

THE UNITED NATIONS is going to debate the question of Red China's admission; the question has been placed on the agenda. Perhaps it will bog down on some question of procedure. That would be fortunate.

If it ever came to a showdown vote in the General Assembly and the United States were forced to deal with the possibility of a rebuke through a vote to admit the Communist Chinese to the General Assembly and eventually to deal with their claim to membership in the Security Council, there would be no further reason for this country to support the United Nations.

It would be as useless as an agency of cooperative security as the League of Nations became when it finally repudiated everything it stood for by backing away from action to stop Benito Mussolini's attack on Ethiopia.

The figment that Formosan China is the real China can be destroyed, but only at the price of destroying the figment that the United States and the Soviet Union are interested in the United Nations for the same reason.

Our Temperature Keep Falling

West Berliners are reported to be cool to the idea of transferring United Nations headquarters to their city.

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin is cool about it.

We are not just cool about this preposterous idea. We're cold.

Our temperature dropped 10 more degrees when we learned that Izvestia, the official Soviet government newspaper, had found merit in the idea of transferring U.N. headquarters to Berlin. Why wouldn't it find merit?

No one has proposed that Berlin be freed from the grip of the Ulbricht regime in East Germany. It would still be a hostage 110 miles inside an unfriendly puppet nation, as far as non-Communist governments were concerned.

It's Comforting

City Council balked for many months before enacting last November the ordinance which gave the city of Salem legal claim to all of the fines and costs from the city weight scales where overloaded trucks are checked. Since that time a total of $16,212.88 has been funneled into the city treasury.

The amount has even eclipsed the $1,000 per month which Mayor Dean Cranmer predicted the city would realize.

The councilmen may not want to admit it publicly, but we're confident they're happy about that extra fund cushion, the income tax receipts notwithstanding.

Once Over

"All I want is peace," declared our neighbor as he shook his fist at us, and with the other hand waved a shoe.

"But look here," we began, as he cried, "I have led the forces of true brotherhood," and looked at us down the barrel of a sawed off shotgun.

"Nevertheless—" we started to say. "There must be an immediate end of belligerence," yelled our neighbor, his voice rising as he sharpened a bayonet.

"Let us sit down and reason together," we managed to interject.

"I am willing to sit down and am one of the most accommodating sinner-downers in the community," he thundered as he jumped on a table. A rock went by our chin and we asked, "What was that?"

"Just testing," he shouted, and began to size up a large boulder on the lawn.

"But we both solemnly agreed not to resume testing," he said.

"You began testing, no matter what the contrary evidence is. There would be no trouble here if you were not so unreliable, vicious, warlike and contemptuous of peaceful aims," he barked, as he swung a tire chain and iron pipe.

"Your accusations are difficult to understand," we sighed.

"You don't have to understand them. Just take them lying down," screamed the man as he thumbed his nose at us, hurled a giant firecracker through our window and added, "Amity and accord are my well known cherished aims."

We felt "beat up" but stammered, "Are we going to negotiate or not?"

"You gotta change your warlike style and stop slugging me," the man cried out as he juggled a huge hatchet, a switchblade knife and two homemade bombs.

"Now listen," we began.

"HERE I AM TRYING TO SYMBOLIZE

All that has been proposed is to internationalize the city in the hope of getting it off the back of the Western Allies as the possible cause of what might be a nuclear war.

But what this would amount to in effect and what it would look like to Europeans, Asiatics and Africans, provided the latter ever had heard of Berlin at all, would be handing over a hostage and easing a bad conscience by calling the hostage untouchable.

It may not be tactful to mention this, but the U.N. layout in New York City cost the United States an interest-free loan of $65 million, New York City $26½ million, John D. Rockefeller Jr. $8½ million and the Ford Foundation more than $6 million so far. If the whole thing were vacated in a childish attempt to keep the Russians from blotting up Berlin by surrounding it and infiltrating it, a sizable sum of money would go down the drain, where it would join the U.S. millions spent on the League of Nations buildings at Geneva.

And if the layout then were reproduced in Berlin, guess who would be expected to pay for it. Guess who would be expected to pull out of Berlin so there would be no interference with the eventual subjugation of the city by the military forces surrounding it in East Germany. Guess who would be expected to rush to its rescue the day after the "coup" that pitted a few uniformed U.N. guards helplessly against the bully-boys of the Communist Conspiracy.

Our temperature has just dropped 10 more degrees.

At The Eye of the Hurricane

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

There is magic, for many folks in the phrase "profit sharing." It conjures up big money swiftly thrown into the family pocket-book. But many of the country's leaders, including national labor chiefs whom I've just interviewed—have been publicly or privately critical of the profit sharing pact made by the United Auto Workers and the American Motors Corp.

The man who created this formula, which he calls "progress sharing," is AMC's vice president, Ed Cushman. The agreement with Walter Reuther catapulted Cushman into international fame. He's an old friend.

I asked him why he led his company into the first such contract in the industry. I wondered what his reply was to those who charge he surrendered to Reuther.

Ed is a voluble and expressive fellow. Here, in an exclusive interview by phone from Detroit, is his answer in his own words.

"LATE IN 1954, the new American Motors management under George Romney decided that the success of the company could best be advanced by the development of two concepts—the compact car and progress sharing," Ed Cushman asserted.

"The formal application of the progress sharing principle this year directly to employee compensation is a further extension of these basic approaches. The success generated by these concepts has in turn enlarged our opportunity to put them to work."

"There was originality in the Rambler compact car concept, and the public responded so strongly to it that a dramatic revolution took place in the automobile industry. But we lay no claim to originality in progress sharing. We feel that it is an American fundamental and that American economic growth has been based on the principle of progress sharing.

"Our conviction is that the fruits of economic progress must be shared equitably among all those who contribute to that progress—stockholders, customers, employee suppliers, dealers."

"The success of an individual company, we feel, usually reflects the degree to which it enlists and rewards all participants."

"Our proposal to institute a formalized employee progress sharing plan was made as we opened our union contract negotiations this year because we felt that tying the employee's financial interest directly to the company's profits as the prime indicator of the success of the total effort is morally and economically sound, and would stimulate further progress for our company."

"The timing also was favorable, because American Motors had a proven record of profitable operation entering the negotiations that it did not enjoy during contract talks in previous years."

MR. CUSHMAN then added, "Wage and benefit payments, in our opinion, should be related importantly to individual company success, just as labor contracts should be related to individual company specifics rather than to generalities based on the economic facts of other companies."

"Thus our plan was also designed to break away from the pattern-plus settlements imposed upon us by the union in past years. These not only involved the wage and benefit levels of the Big Three automobile companies, but also tacked on the added penalties of cumbersome seniority provisions, extra paid relief time, and work standards that impeded the most effective utilization of manpower."

Except for the infrequent genuine product innovation, the greatest potential area of competitive advantage lies in workmanship—in the human beings who make up a company. The direct identification of the employee with company success should produce mutual benefits in many areas.

"DISCUSSIONS of automation and advanced mass production techniques have overshadowed realistic consideration of the contribution of the individual worker."

"There still is no substitute for the good worker who has a real equity in what he produces, not to speak of the human values involved. We think our employees will draw a greater sense of accomplishment out of their jobs under our sharing plan, with psychological as well as financial rewards."

"Heightened personal interest and concern should encourage increase cost consciousness per man and a further increase in the superior quality of our product, and this in turn should provide us with a significant competitive edge."

"The automobile companies all have comparable resources to draw upon. None has a corner on engineering or design skill, selling ingenuity, the latest machine tools, the best materials."

"The program strengthens management in a number of ways. Since it was initiated freely by management, it indicates clear recognition of the common interest in the success of the enterprise shared by management and employees and minimizes the grounds for antagonism that has been too characteristic of employee-employer relations."

"And we are delighted that our agreement has given us the opportunity to clarify our management rights and define them against improper union encroachment."

"OUR AGREEMENT provides that the management has the sole right to determine the products to be made, the location and methods of production, all methods of selling products, including pricing, and to make all financial decisions, insure the right to maintain the company's books in confidence."

"Not only do the management rights provisions recognize these as unilateral management rights, but the union agrees not even to request the company to bargain about them!"

The AMC vice president then concluded, "Tying the employees' financial interest directly to the success of the group effort of all associated with the enterprise seems to us essential if competition is to be the effective force it must be in a free society."

Blow To Army Morale

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S. Troops In Europe Shocked By Walker Case

What is more important than the morale of the American Army? If there is a war in which conventional forces are to carry the principal burden, what are the troops going to fight for?

No army is worth anything unless it has a fighting spirit—unless it is motivated by a deep feeling as David Lawrence to the righteousness of its cause. This applies both to officers and to men.

Yet we read from the pen of Hanson Baldwin, military expert of the New York Times, as he writes from Augsburg in West Germany:

"From high command to Pfc, the Army in Europe has been deeply disturbed by the case of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker. Officers of all ranks, particularly the senior ones, deplore the manner in which the case was handled and feel that some fundamental elements of military justice and fair play were violated..."

"At the direction of the Pentagon, prior plans to transfer Gen. Walker to a corps command in Texas with promotion to lieutenant general were canceled. Since April, Gen. Walker has been filling a colonel's billet as an assistant operations officer on the staff of Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, commander-in-chief, United States Army Europe, with headquarters at Heidelberg."

Mr. Baldwin goes on to say that the reasons why many officers and men are dismayed "have nothing to do with the materials Gen. Walker used or things he said in his anti-Communist program."

Indeed, many officers said the general had become "too much of a single-minded zealot in his fight against communism." But the Army is reported to have been "shocked first, by what it feels is the summary treatment given to a man who is generally regarded as an outstanding leader and a soldier."

He made a distinguished record in both World War II and the Korean War, and has been awarded many decorations. Under his leadership, the 24th Infantry Division had come to be judged as one of the two best divisions in the European area, if not in the whole Army.

THE ORIGINAL press release from the Pentagon, announcing Gen. Walker's relief and transfer, was couched in such extreme terms that, Mr. Baldwin was told, one senior commander refused to publish it.

He felt it was an interference with the normal processes of military law and an interference with the chain of command. The wording of the release was subsequently altered but the records of the inspector general's investigation—which, like the minutes of a grand jury hearing, are confidential—were made public by the Pentagon.

This is unprecedented. Gen. Walker was not even given the right to read first the transcript of the testimony. The records of such investigations are traditionally for use only in a military court, where evidence is taken under oath and witnesses are subject to cross-examination.

Supposing that the testimony of some liberal before a grand jury had been improperly disclosed and the individual then publicly censured by some government department or committee of Congress?

Doubtless, a drive for an "operation abolition" against such a department or agency head would have been promptly initiated.

Isn't all this a sign of the utter incompetence of those people in the Kennedy administration who trifle with the morale of officers and troops of the United States Army?

Isn't the Pentagon aware that it is ordering thousands of American citizens into the armed forces and is not just running a department to suit the politics or ideologies of different groups which bombard the government whenever anyone wants to speak out against Communist infiltration in the United States?

THUS, THE PENTAGON now virtually has barred the showing to American troops of the film titled "Operation Abolition"—which exposed Communist participation in the riotous demonstrations in San Francisco last year against the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

This documentary has been the target of many so-called "liberals." There may, to be sure, have been some unnecessary interpolations that do not belong in the film, but basically it exposes the tactics of Communist subversion inside the United States. It has been used in the program to educate armed forces personnel on the nature and menace of communism.

An understanding of why and for what they were fighting had been found lacking among the troops in the Korean War—in which Gen. Walker commanded the artillery of a division—and the indoctrination program has since been developed for morale building purposes.

SEN. STROM THURMOND, D-SC, has been waging a crusade in the Senate to stop the censorship of speeches by military men who denounce communism. The word had gone out that the Pentagon censors and edits these speeches—somewhat like what is being done in Communist Russia itself.

The South Carolina senator has succeeded in getting the Senate Armed Services Committee to authorize a special study by a subcommittee into the whole problem of the "muzzling" of military personnel who seek to expose communism.

I am in inquiry long overdue, but unfortunately the administration itself has not taken the steps it should take to boost the morale of the military forces themselves and inspire them with the feeling that, if they have to fight communism on the battlefield, it is a righteous cause worthy of their maximum sacrifice.

Too Full Of Pain

By TRUMAN TWILL

We of the all-American SS are not full of glee about the equinox. SS means Sinus Sufferers. There are more of us than there are of people who attend church regularly, vote in off-year elections, or own property.

If we could get our minds off our misery long enough to organize we could hold the balance of power in America, instead of our heads.

The equinox is a bad time for us—any equinox.

Solstices are bad too.

Our affliction is sensitive to all changes in temperature.

It is affected by the rise and fall of barometric pressure—both directions.

Heat and cold give up the flip pinglories.

Humidity and wind make us pace the floor.

The pollen season blackens our pain-filled days.

Any excitement, sudden or premeditated, makes our sinuses thump.

The equinox means nothing to the great legion of the SS but an acceleration of aggravation, which we pronounce "addeclardshun of aggraddshun."

One day soon the temperature will drop below freezing and the wind will blow. That will bring an epidemic of sinusitis.

Then the temperature will rise and the wind will quit blowing. There will be another epidemic. Each snowstorm will be another and likewise each thaw.

The holidays, when they start with Thanksgiving, will spark off a string of Chinese firecrackers in our heads. We will blame this on something we ate or drank, but it will be our sinuses; this we will know.

Life itself is just one big sinus that is stopped up and thumping and which we must cope with on a what-next basis. No matter what happens, whether good, bad, or indifferent, it will have a painful effect.

Potions, notions, heat, miracle goops, jellies, smellies, pills, pellets and secret compounds never turn out to be anything but interesting possibilities—a hope that springs eternal.

If we go to a specialist, he looks us over with bleary eyes and mutely admits what he doesn't need to say because we know the symptoms as well as he knows them. He is thinking about going to a specialist, himself, because his sinuses are killing him.

Not everybody suffers this way. But those who don't have a chance to make the SS on merit, which is the way we got there.

One day they will be holding their heads and peering at a raunchy universe through a jaundiced eye. Some bystander will ask, "Whatta masta, Mac, you crooked?" And they clear their throats sufficiently to croak, "Sinus. Right here." And they will point to where the pain is, if they can localize it. They should be so lucky!

Come to think about it, we of the All-American SS are never full of glee about anything. We are too full of something else.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Ulcers in Children Increasing

A stomach specialist recently called to his colleagues' attention the alarming fact that there has been, in the past four years of his experience, a "noticeable increase in the incidence of peptic ulcers in children between the ages of 4 and 12."

Dr. H. T. Hyman

He went on to say that these ulcers represented a disease so common in childhood that they should be suspected in an young child with otherwise unexplained abdominal pain. In the speaker's opinion, this increase in the occurrence of what used to be considered a rare affliction of childhood was due to "unpleasant family relationships, difficulties with playmates, unpleasant situations at school and other real or imaginary difficulties that created a great deal of worry, tension and mental strain."

High on the list of these causes were the tensions created by parents who sought to "exert their influence and impose their will too strongly upon their children."

These erring parents included those who "consider themselves well read in the modern concepts of bringing up children."

By their constant observation, demands and directions, these well-meaning mothers and fathers created a "strained atmosphere" that disturbed the personality of the child and made him susceptible to the formation of ulcers.

With all due respect to my learned colleague, I must enter a most vigorous protest. Certainly the type of parental control and discipline he describes was all too common in the Victorian age when stomach ulcers in childhood were seemingly as rare as snow in the tropics.

Equally rare in my own limited experience, are modern parents who have the courage to oppose those child psychologists whose fear of creating "repressions and suppressions" is such that they recommend permissive rearing.

By permissive rearing, they encourage domestic chaos that turns most homes into a sort of railroad terminal at rush hour except, of course, when school's out, at which time the rush hour runs from the late, late breakfast until the completion of the late, late showing of the late, late, late movie.

It is my opinion that the strained atmosphere in many homes is a remote result of motorization.

When we were kids, every street and empty lot was a playground. You played in front of the house, on the next block, over in the park, down by the creek. You walked, ran, skipped, skated or biked since there was no danger of being run over.

There was no need for athletic counselors, playground attendants or special equipment. When you played one-old-cat or behind-the-back-and-under-the-leg or a real game of baseball, manhole covers were home plate and second base, lampposts or fire hydrants were first and third bases. Maybe once in a while, you had to call time when a horsedrawn wagon passed by.

When you finally answered the call to "come home," you were too exhausted to do much more than gulp down the evening meal and finish homework. Parents hadn't much of a chance to observe, demand and direct or to coddle you into thinking the world was getting all set to be your own personal "oyster."

And nary a kid I knew ever had an ulcer. Bellyaches, of course, but no ulcers.

All cemetery pots, urns and other decorations are to be removed from Mt. Calvary Cemetery by Saturday. Remembrance candles may remain.

Sumner Welles Dies After 3-Week Illness

BERNARDSVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Sumner Welles, 68, undersecretary of state for six years during the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is dead.

Welles died early Sunday at the home of his wife's family after an illness of three weeks. He had suffered a heart attack some years ago.

A specialist in Latin American affairs, Welles was credited with coining the phrase, "good neighbor policy," and of persuading President Roosevelt to pursue such a policy.

Welles served briefly as ambassador to Cuba and later was in charge of the State Department's division of Latin American affairs.

He was one of the principal American diplomats assigned by Roosevelt to work on the formulation and organization of the United Nations.

Where The Snipe Flies

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When you are young, sometimes your reach to knowledge exceeds your grasp. Your reading can confuse you with reality.

I would like to tell you an experience of my own that taught me an unforgettable lesson: Never trust a country boy if that is all he can brag about.

Mother in tears—I didn't cry—

Fire Protection Areas, Wardens Are Announced

Organized fire protection areas and forest fire wardens for each have been announced by the district office of the Ohio Division of Forestry at New Philadelphia.

In these areas a permit is required for kindling any fire in the open outside of incorporated towns and villages during the months of October, November, March, April and May. Listed below are the area townships and the fire wardens from whom permits may be obtained:

came down to wave me farewell as I stormed aboard a train that would carry me 45 miles from Kansas City on the Missouri River to Lexington down the same river.

It was the summer of my ignorance and I went to where my father was born—where his father from Ireland before him had dug soft coal and raised 14 children.

To me it was all new, I was the son of one of the youngest sons of the family. My father had built a business—a grocery store.

My hostess was my father's sister, whose husband then still dug coal. My father loved her dearly as he did all his sisters and brothers. My aunt had 10 kids, double what I was used to at home.

Being from Kansas City, I was amazed at the number of rains that carpeted the ceiling. I was even more surprised to find that the rains had wings and were flies. That's the welcome you got in the old soft coal days.

Well, my country cousins played the usual tricks that rural egotism employs, such as getting you to mix stale chocolates and chewing tobacco, then gnaw a live elm bole for relief.

That was part of your belonging. I didn't mind the tricks—except one.

That was when as a child away from home I was invited to hold the bag in a snipe hunt. The idea was that the victim held a gunny-sack before a lighted candle and waited for a snipe to leap across the light into the bag.

One of the reasons I held the bag before the candle so earnestly and so long was that I had read in nature study books there was a bird called the snipe. I was willing to believe, although I hadn't met one in Missouri.

As I held the empty bag in the lonely dark with the night gathering in my heart, I knew I would never believe as much as I had before.

But in the years since then I have gone a bit farther.

There is a snipe. There was a snipe then.

And I have been where the snipe flies.

Deaths and Funerals

George W. Edwards

George W. Edwards, 73, of 7017 Dunbar Road, Baltimore, Md., formerly of Salem, died of a heart ailment Friday in Baltimore.

Born in Salem April 13, 1888, he was the son of the late John and Rosa Edwards.

While a resident here he was employed as a foreman at the American Steel and Wire Co. He left here in 1929 and was employed as a superintendent of the rod and wire mills of Bethlehem Steel in Sparrows Point, Md., until his retirement in 1958.

Survivors include his wife, Eugenia Gottschalk Edwards; four sons, John J., Robert, Dr. George and Daniel, all of Baltimore; nine grandchildren and four sisters, Mrs. Mabel Ingram and Mrs. Elsie Woods of Salem, Mrs. Gladys Shugart of Collingswood, N. J., Mrs. Anna Gray of South Gate, Calif.

Services and burial will be held Wednesday in Baltimore.

Morris Infant

Robert Mervin Morris, infant son of Robert and Ruth Ann Ludt Morris of 1311 S. Lincoln Ave., was stillborn at 5:25 a.m. Sunday at the Central Clinic.

Besides his parents, he leaves his grandparents, Alva Morris of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ludt of Sebring, Fla.

Burial was in Grandview Cemetery this morning.

Reuben Blosser

COLUMBIANA — Reuben Blosser, 77, of RD 2, Columbiana, died Sunday at 4:10 a.m. at his home following a long illness.

He was born May 8, 1884, in Beaver Township, a son of Joel D. and Mary A. Moyer Blosser.

He lived his lifetime in this area and worked as a laborer on area farms. He was a member of the Midway Mennonite Church.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Leo Rice with whom he made his home, and Mrs. Lillie Justice of Canfield; five brothers, Oliver of Orville, O., Clinton, Harvey and Stelvin of Columbiana and Ira of Oneco, Fla.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Midway church, with Paul Yoder officiating. Calling hours will be Tuesday evening at the Seederly-Bellhart Funeral Home here. Burial will be in Midway Church Cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the church an hour before time of service.

Mrs. Helen Yeager

NORTH JACKSON — Mrs. Helen Yeager, 68, of the Akron-Canfield Road, RD 1, North Jackson, died of cancer at 7:45 p.m. Sunday at the Salem Central Clinic.

Friends may call at the Williams Funeral Home in Canfield Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Anthony Perrino

LISBON — Anthony Perrino, 26, of Brookfield Ave. died Sunday at 5:30 p.m. at his home after an illness of 10 days.

Born Jan. 28, 1935 in Lisbon, he was a son of Carmen and Mary Campanelli Perrino. He lived his entire life in Lisbon.

Surviving besides his parents is one brother, Raymond Perrino at the home, four sisters, Mrs. Leonard Warner, Mrs. Rudy Novak, Mrs. Robert Cope of Lisbon and Mrs. Howard Miller of Salem.

Services will be held Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at St. George's Church, with Rev. Fr. William Hohman officiating. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Perrino home Tuesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. The Rosary will be said at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Rosco VanPelt

MINERVA — Mrs. Elsie E. VanPelt, 52, of RD 2, Minerva, died suddenly of a heart attack early Sunday morning at Alliance City Hospital.

A life resident of this area, she was a member of the Minerva Methodist Church and the church board. She was president of the Protheon Class, secretary - treasurer of the Gleaners Circle of the church and treasurer of Bayard Grange.

She was a 1926 graduate of Minerva High School.

Survivors include her husband, Roscoe W. VanPelt, whom she married Aug. 20, 1931; a daughter, Roberta L. and a son, Roscoe W. Jr. of the home; two half-sisters, Mrs. Mollie Dodge of Braddock Heights, Md., and Mrs. Bertha Markley of Sandyville.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Methodist Church with Rev. Albert Burkhardt and Rev. Ralph Chambers officiating. Interment will be in East Lawn Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Gotschall-Hutchison Funeral home Tuesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. and at the church an hour before the services.

Jeff W. Whan

EAST PALESTINE — Jeff W. Whan, 84, of RD 2, Darlington, Pa., formerly of East Palestine, died at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Salem City Hospital where he was a patient nine days.

Born in Darlington Township, Oct. 5, 1876, he was the son of Jonah and Marillis Billingsley Whan. On April 25, 1900, he married Lilly Clark, who survives.

He was a retired coal mine operator.

Besides his wife, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Retta Rawding of RD 2, Darlington; four sons, Gerald of Youngstown, Clark of Sebring, William and Jeff of East Palestine; a sister, Mrs. Retta Booser and a half-brother, Clarence Whan of Pittsburgh, and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Oliver Funeral Home, with burial in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Turner, an Army photographer from Ft. Bragg, N.C., home base of the sky divers; and two Air Force men, Capt. John E. Markel and T. Sgt. John Lesso, both of Nellis (Nev.) Air Force Base.

The injured included the six skydivers—Lt. James P. Pearson, recent winner of the world sky diving championship; M. Sgt. T. Hollis, Sgt. Joe E. Norman, Sgt. Wilfred J. A. Charrette, Spec. 5 Bobby Letbetter and PFC. Robert McDonnell.

Others hurt were John Weston, a free lance photographer; Lt. William F. Maxey, Nellis Air Force Base, Bob Lemoine, Wilmington Star-News photographer; and three staff members of WEST-TV, photographer John McNeill, art director James Craig and salesman C. D. Martin. All are from Wilmington.

PROOF POSITIVE — The length of singer Patricia Morison's hair led to controversies among theater audiences. So, in Columbus, Ohio, she posed with her dark, auburn tresses laid out. They're now 3½ feet long, were 4 feet long before recent trimming.

West Berlin or their commitments in Germany.

"A 'peace treaty' which would destroy the peace would be a fraud," he said. "A 'free city' which would suffocate freedom would be an infamy."

The Western Allies "have calmly resolved to defend, by whatever means are forced upon them their obligations and their access to the free citizens of West Berlin and the self-determination of those citizens," Kennedy said.

ACCIDENT REPORTED

The front end of a car owned by Charles Hohider of Hanoverton was damaged considerably when it was struck by another auto on E. State St., west of Penn Ave., at 8:15 p.m. Sunday. Police said Ray Ross Williams, 70, of Waynesburg, was backing out of a parking space when his foot slipped off the brake onto the accelerator, causing his car to ram into Hohider's vehicle which was parked in the space behind him.

RADIOACTIVE — Pleasant innovation for dealing with an unpleasant reality is worn by Linda Bromley, of New Rochelle, N.Y. The pendant she wears conceals a dosimeter — a device to measure radioactive fallout.

Englands Prince, Princess Display Skill at Driving

LONDON (AP) — The future King of England — 12-year-old Prince Charles—can drive a car. So can his sister Princess Anne, age 11.

They gave a six-mile demonstration of their driving skill up in Scotland Sunday.

With Prince Charles at the wheel of the British version of the Jeep, Charles and his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, traveled from Balmoral Castle to Birkhall. They were followed by another, Princess Anne doing the driving. Her father, Prince Philip, was her passenger.

They made the journey to visit the queen mother and Princess Margaret and her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The princess and Tony are the guests of the queen mother at Birkhall, a stately Scottish home beside the River Dee.

In Britain, 17 is the minimum age for a provisional driving license. On a private estate, however, driving licenses are not required. The royal children were driving on an estate road.

Leetonia

In addition to transporting kindergarten students one way to school, the Board of Education in its recent meeting, approved a program for transporting the students the other way.

In previous action, the board agreed to provide a bus to transport the Washingtonville kindergarten students to Orchard Hill School, if the parents would provide and pay a qualified driver. In line with this offer, board members agreed also to permit its equipment to be used at any of the other focal points for a group of 10 or more students for the 1961-62 school year. Participation in this program is on a voluntary basis.

Last year the board provided transportation to and from school, but due to the lack of funds, one trip was cancelled from the schedule.

2 Accident Victims Brought from Kentucky

Two Columbiana women have been transferred to Salem City Hospital from Elizabethtown, Ky., where they have been in the hospital following an automobile accident Sept. 3.

Mrs. Vida Thomas, 71, of Columbiana is in fairly good condition and Miss Anna McLaughlin, 37, of Columbiana, is in good condition and may return home today.

Mrs. Thomas' daughter, Lavonne, died as a result of injuries suffered in the accident which occurred when the women were en route to Florida for a vacation.

ed on Mock Rd., just east of the Stark County line, north of Home- worth, at 12:10 p.m. Sunday.

The State Patrol said Miss Karper was driving the car east on Buck Rd. at an apparent high rate of speed when she lost control as the vehicle approached a bridge. The car went left of center, knocked over a stop sign at the intersection of Buck Rd. and 12th St., and overturned on the road.

Miss Karper suffered a laceration of the hand and Miss Dossi a fractured right shoulder. The driver was cited by the Patrol for excessive speed.

No one was injured in three other accidents in the area Sunday.

Held For Intoxication

Jay Walter, 23, of Rogers narrowly escaped serious injury when the motorcycle he was riding was struck from the rear by a car on Rt. 46, a mile and a half west of East Palestine at 8:45 p.m.

The driver of the car, William Taucher, 47, of East Palestine, was cited for driving while intoxicated. The Patrol said both vehicles were traveling east on Rt. 46 when the car struck the motorcycle from behind. Damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $100.

Cars operated by Barbara Ferguson, 16, of Industry, Pa., and Cecil Guy, 46, of Rogers, collided on Rt. 170, six miles south of Negley at 3:30 p.m.

According to the Patrol, Miss Ferguson had stopped to make a left turn when Guy failed to get stopped and ran into the rear of her car. Guy was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Another rear-end collision occurred on Rt. 62, a half mile west of Salem at 5:25 p.m. Christopher Allen, 16, of Ashtabula, was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after he crashed into the rear of a car which, in turn, was shoved into a third vehicle.

The Patrol said cars driven by Saul Garber, 40, of Butler, Pa., and Howard Allen, 57, of Ashtabula were stopped in a line of traffic when the younger Allen, approaching from the rear, was unable to get stopped in time to avoid the collision.

the ability of many West Berliners to convince themselves that the concrete curtain thrown across the divided city by the Communists Aug. 13 was merely a temporary inconvenience.

British newspapers predicted a dramatic switch in U.S. policy toward Germany is shaping up despite the denials by Clay and Washington.

The Daily Mail described Clay's off-the-record remarks as a "calculated indiscretion." The paper's Washington correspondent, Bruce Rothwell, reported President Kennedy is about ready to grant de facto recognition to East Germany.

Rothwell said Kennedy is also believed prepared to recognize the Oder-Neisse line as East Germany's frontier, accept East German checking on access routes to West Berlin and possibly agree to limit nuclear weapons in central Europe.

Deal Looks Likely

The Daily Express, under the headline "Ice is Thawing," said a deal on Berlin between the United States and the Soviet Union looks increasingly likely.

The Express speculated on why Clay had not made his statement openly and asked: "Is it because he is anxious not to offend the West German politicians or make it more difficult for (Chancellor Konrad) Adenauer to form a coalition with the strongly nationalist Free Democrats?" The paper declared "the domestic situation in Germany must not be allowed to influence Western policy."

The East Germans tightened their dividing line in Berlin by completing the evacuation of more than 2,000 persons from apartment houses lining the border.

The flight of refugees continued, however. Twenty East Berliners succeeded in crossing the border Sunday.

Let's talk about vitamins

Vitamins are the one product you must take on faith. You can't see them, taste them or smell them. That's why it's doubly important always to buy vitamins in a DRUG store, where you have specialists to advise you and where you are assured of getting full value for your money. (Some non-drug-store outlets, you know, charge from four to ten times as much for vitamins of the same potency your pharmacist offers.) So, get the very good habit of buying all health items at a DRUG store—this one.
